the Lion Generation

C.C.H.S.

C is for the communities of Cambria, Carterville, and Crainville which make up Unit District #5.

C is for challenge — The Lion Challenge of Excellence.

H is for the High School.

S is for Spirit — The Lion Spirit.

What's in a "C"? Everything! We the students of CCHS belong to a special "C" club. We are members of the Lion Generation. The "C" is a visible symbol that we have taken the Lion Challenge of 1982 . . . be it in the area of Academics, Vocational skills, the Arts or Athletics. We look at the "C" and are reminded that we have caught the Lion Spirit of past generations and have taken the Lion Challenge of Excellence.

Homecoming

Coronation, parade, skits, floats, football, dance — What do these have in common? Homecoming week at Carterville.

The week was a bustle of activity beginning with the coronation of Jennifer Gentry as queen.

Seniors won first for the best development of this year's parade theme, "Take the Lion Challenge — Catch the Lion Spirit."

Our Lions certainly did "take the challenge" and defeated the Sesser Red Devils, 16 to 6.

The skits made us smile and we were still smiling over our victory when the dance began. The theme of the coronation and dance could not have said it better — "The Greatest American Lions" . . .

Sweetheart Banquet

Cupid himself could not have picked a more lovely valentine than Barbara Hudson. Barbara was crowned Sweetheart Banquet Queen on February 6th, 1982, at the John A. Logan Cafeteria. As 9 o'clock approached, Cupid was at the scene. Melody Gray, the Mistress of Ceremonies began announcing the queen candidates. The other candidates running for queen were Jackie Brown, Mary Jane Crabb, Kathy Runge, and Rhonda Runge. The queen was announced amidst the red and white colored decor and began the royal dance.

The gala event went on into the night. It was an event that few would forget . . .

Prom

Canopied in a sea of stars couples glided through the evening of Prom 82. The theme was "We've Got Tonite," and was held at John A. Logan College. The sea of stars and midnight blue made the evening seem like a dream. Perhaps Mary Evans thought she was dreaming when she was announced Queen. Prom King was Shane Watson. The band was "The Jewel."

After-prom was held at Coo-Coo's. Couples shed their prom finery to dance and bowl. As the evening drew to a close, and the stars faded from the sky, the sleepy couples agreed it was a Prom they'd never forget.

Many people fail to see the real meaning of the word "activity." Webster defines it as "the state or quality of being active." Many students and teachers were very active throughout the year planning these gala events called "school dances."

People gave up precious hours to contribute to decorating and building. All the people at the high school as well as the community got involved. When planning such events as Homecoming, builders were needed to build the floats, artists to design decorations, and individuals to create themes. Local merchants were kept busy fitting tuxedos for the more formal Sweetheart Banquet and Prom. Florist shops were flooded with orders, and seamstresses were pushed to complete last minute alterations on evening gowns. Cooks prepared the meals couples would enjoy before the actual dancing began, and photographers took the pictures that would fill photo-albums and annuals.

The crowned queens have walked nervously down the aisles. The bands are now silent. The corsages are but wilted remnants pinned to bedroom bulletin boards. The big three activities at Carterville High School — Homecoming, Sweetheart Banquet, and Prom are over. But are they really? The activities live on in the student's minds. The memories have become mental "activities" which will be relived for many years to come.

Play

Chaos, confusion and clamor — "Frankenstein Follies" was this and more. Not one, not two, but three descendants of Frankenstein live in a castle in the Alps. How does this make a play? Have wandering skiers and relatives get lost in a snowstorm and arrive at the castle — that's how. In order to put "Frankenstein Follies" on Halloween night, students and directors had one month in which to rehearse. Since the stage was decorated to look like an old castle, the stage crew ran around looking for armor and authentic props. Students rehearsed morning and night every week.

General opinion was the that the comedy was light-hearted and a funny diversion from the usual Halloween pranks.

Art

Current future plans for the Art Club include a trip to an art museum in either St. Louis or possibly Chicago. Recently the club members visited Mitchell Museum at SIU. One project the Art Club participated in was an exhibit for the Illinois art week. They also painted the Christmas sign seen at the drive-in bank of Carterville during the holidays. Throughout the year the club has expressed tremendous artistic talent. One visit to the art room will reveal this. Some of the more talented artists have been allowed to paint their work on the walls of the art room!

R. Hanagan, S. Hanagan, T. Adams, D. Hanagan, D. Sprague, and D. Helfrich.

Photography

Collectively this club hasn't accomplished very much this year. Its membership has declined, they have a new sponsor, they lose the most valuable rolls of film, they can't successfully hold an election, they can't make one print of a picture in less than six sheets of paper, they can't dig through the layers of dirt and chemicals on the floor and walls, they know not how to communicate with the people who make photo requests, and they can't get the chocolate bar off the back of the enlarger. They can't calculate a correct ratio for the chemicals, most cannot count to ten — none to twenty-five.

The darkroom looked worse than the carpenter's mess throughout the entire school. Seriously, the club was responsible for all the photography work in the "Sphinx" and the majority of the candids in the LIONITE. The making of individualized calendars was the main project of the year.

Video

Club branches out! For the first time in school history there has been a separate organized Video Club. The club was directed by an experienced junior, Paul Howerton. He was assisted by Anthony Adams, and several other returning media club members. Their combined efforts taught a hand full of carefully selected, but inexperienced students, the proper procedure for composing a workable unit, and operating it carefully and correctly. The club has successfully taped many football and basketball games. Although it was a branch of the media club, it has certainly learned to stand on its own three feet.

Musical

Coming to see a musical is an experience, and "Bye, Bye Birdie" is certainly an experience! The play was basically about the rock singer, Conrad Birdie, (Robert York) giving a last kiss to some lucky girl before he joins the army. His manager Albert (John Merkin) manages his career and also a hectic love life. But, in the end, the guys get the girls and everyone is happy.

The performance was greatly anticipated as it was put off for a month because the stage was not finished. But, all in all, the tunes kept us humming and the jokes kept us laughing.

Band & Chorus

Cash was the name of the game for the Band this year. Mr. Groll and his students had high hopes for raising forty thousand dollars to go to Mexico on June 4 for an 8-day tour. They wanted to enter in an international Band Contest. Students had fun while they worked hard at all kinds of money-making projects. All had confidence that they would raise the money and do well at the contest.

Chorus took the challenge with a new teacher. Miss Gayla Davie. She approached the singers with confidence in their abilities and coached them to become better. The Swing Choir and the whole Chorus repertoire performed seasonal concerts and the musical.

Both the Band the Chorus met their individual challenges with the confidence to win.

Performers

Concentration was uppermost in the minds of the twirlers. Strict attention had to be paid to the routine if the girls wanted to perform perfectly. Twirlers performed in the parades and in the half-time during football games.

Drill Team started the year with new uniforms. They practiced hard at the beginning of the year and performed well during football games and parades.

The Drill Team and Twirlers' Coach was Miss Stephanie Esch. Drum major was Paula Emery. These girls certainly met the Lion Challenge with their dedication to performance.

Concerts

Cramming in a last few practices, the band and chorus nervously prepare for the concert. All the concerts occur this way — days rushing up to a climax of busy activity and nervous preparation. Yet, the students always seem to perform magnificently for the audiences.

The band and chorus had the usual number of concerts, fall, Christmas, and spring. As the year progressed so did their skill.

The band again scored a first in the State Band Contest, and many singers rated a first in the Choral Contests.

All students met the challenge in the excellent performances in all of their concerts.

Lionite

Crowded into a small room next to the darkroom, the Lionite staff got through another year. The group's determination was stronger than the smell of chemicals. The room was new, just like the new advisor, Mrs. Cleo Harris. But through it all the 18 crazy members never gave up their challenge, to put out the best yearbook they could.

Sphinx

Class, and a little calamity — that's the only way that one can describe the Sphinx. With the help of the newly formed Journalism classes the newspaper was able to produce more writing than it had done in past years. The newspaper's first two issues were twelve pages long. The Sphinx was also able to convert from three columns to four due to the extra writing from the Journalism classes.

Although the Sphinx ran short of money and had to have the printer set the type and then produce one of its editions off a copying machine in the office, everything ran relatively normal and on schedule.

Varsity Volleyball

Call it AWESOME . . . this one word best describes the Girls Varsity Volleyball Team's outstanding season. The Varsity Volleyball Team had an exceptional season with a 13-5 overall record and then proceeded to win District. The team played Cairo in the first round of District. Then they advanced to play the tough team of Benton. Beating Benton, the girl's team went up against Anna. With a great victory the District title was won.

Although the team went on to Sectional and were defeated by Freeburg, they still have the distinction of being the first team in the school's history to have won the Girl's Volleyball District Championship.

Outstanding Players were Kim Brooks, Jennifer Gentry, Dana Anderson and Chris Mackin. All the girls gave it their all.

Cheerleaders

Cheers echo throughout the auditorium. Yes, cheers led by cheerleaders do play an important role in the sport scene.

Recently, our cheerleaders attended different cheerleading camps in other areas. The Varsity went to the National Cheerleading Association Camp at Cape Giradeau, Missouri. There they received one superior award and two excellent awards.

The Junior Varsity attended camp at Evansville, Indiana. They received the "Most Spirited Squad" award and they also received the "Grand Champion Award", meaning they were the best squad attending that camp.

Varsity Basketball

Calling to mind events of this basketball season brought many smiles from the team members when interviewed. The question asked was which game brought back the best memories? Two games were frequently mentioned — Eldorado and Christopher. Why Eldorado? "Because we were the underdogs," stated Kent Howerton. "We played together as a team," commented Steve Samuel. Playing together and striving for victory, Carterville squeezed by 62-60. As for the Christopher game, the double-overtime speaks for itself. Beating the school rivals with a closing shot from Ed Wilkinson clinched the win.

Achieving greatness seemed to be never ending. The Lions won the Shawnee Tournament, became WCIL Team on the Week, and ended the season as the #1 defensive team in Southern Illinois. Also impressive was setting the school record at winning 22 games in one season, having three people make All-Conference: Simon Brown, Brad Beasley, and Steve Samuel, Captain, and having Steve in the top 20 scorers in Southern Illinois.

What else brings back memories? "Pre-game warm-ups," Scott Moore answered, "As the visions of slam dunks danced through their heads . . ."

Collecting dues, counting points, and going to conference is the long process that the Future Business Leaders of America participated in this year.

The year started out with a club membership campaign called "The It". Carterville students were plagued with posters and announcements heralding the up-coming event. The campaign was successful in collecting new members. Sixty-nine members was the final count at the end, which makes Carterville the second largest in the state.

After participating in several school functions, the club totaled their points and the top 20 proceeded to the annual FBLA conference in Springfield. At this conference many people won awards. Jennifer Gerlock took 2nd place in the state in shorthand, and the Parliamentary Procedure team consisting of Mary Garross, Debbie Hanagan, John Merkin, Steve Hanagan, and Chris Kirk placed 5th overall in the state. Cindy Schlesinger placed 6th in Business Communications. Larry Hougland placed 6th in extemporaneous speaking, and Ron Hanagan placed 7th in Mr. FBLA. The club as a group won an award for contributing $710 to the March of Dimes collected from their Type-a-thon.

To sum up the activities of FBLA — a cheer created at their state conference. "They are enthusiastic, They are feeling G-O-O-D!"

Cindy Schlesinger releases balloons at a membership rally.

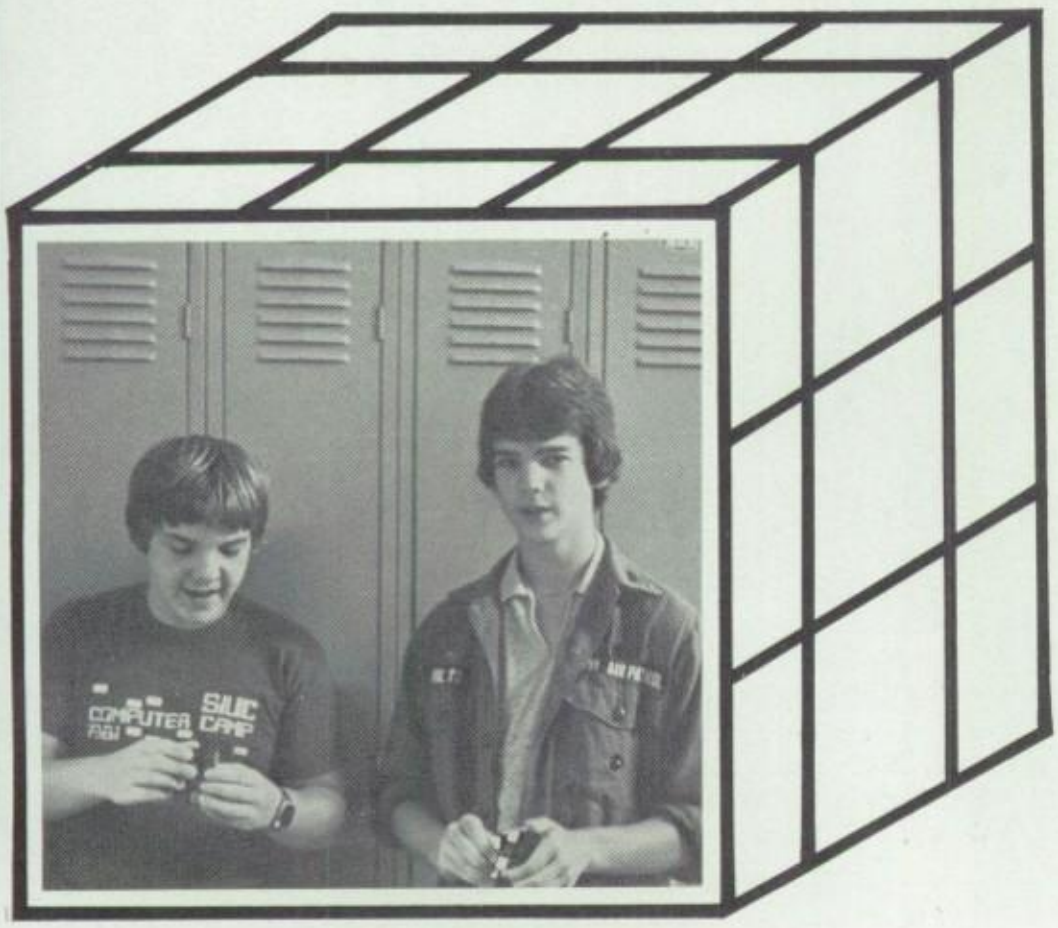
The Cube Challenge



The intricate Rubik's Cube, that confounding two and one-half inch block of small chaotic pieces was part of many lives in 1982. For some, it was a mere puzzle that was child's play. For others, it was a complex task to manipulate the cube to bring it back to its original alignment. For most, it was an impossible dilemma designed to drive one to the brink of insanity.

The many books and posters sold about the solution of the cube were but a minute part of the massive numbers the cube reached. Numerous contests were held around the country to determine who was best at "Mastering the Rubik's Cube." The fastest time ever for solving the cube was 28 seconds. Here at CCHS the fastest time was 56 seconds held by Kenny Milton.

Though the Rubik's Cube is merely a puzzle meant to give a challenge to anyone who participates, it also represents the lives the students at CCHS lead — slow and complex, yet at times speedy and confusing. High School is chaotic in the beginning as freshmen, but students finally put the pieces together as seniors. Of the many students at CCHS who took the "Cube Challenge" — some won, some lost, but all seemed to enjoy the perplexity of the challenge.

FHA

Carterville FHA is one of the largest clubs in the high school.

Why do so many girls join? They may be trying to prove that they care What happens to the family. Certainly they enjoy the Sweetheart Banquet, the skating party, and their annual trip to Six Flags. Some perhaps find purpose in the service projects such as the Special Olympics held at S.I.U. Others like working on money-making projects, such as "Tom Watt". Working and playing together, members learn the value of cooperation and mutual respect. This perhaps is the most important reason girls are eager to join F.H.A.

French

C'est la vie! (That's life) Numerous students took their lives in their hands, and enrolled in the French Club. Those students discovered that French Club was not really all that different from the other clubs in the high school.

Members had monthly meetings and money raising projects. Mrs. Cathy Zeigler tried to make sure some sort of French custom was included at each meeting. Students played various games and learned about some of the French holidays.

The first few meetings were devoted solely to reminiscing about the trip a few of the students, Mrs. Zeigler, and Mrs. Marlene Robinson took to Quebec City, Canada last summer. Pictures were exchanged and numerous stories told.

Club officers were President, Rodney Bonner; Vice-President, Debbie Hanagan; Secretary, Donna Malone; Treasurer, Suzanne Young.

Students ended the year with more open knowledge about the world around them. They had surely met the challenge in learning about other places and ideas.

Workers

Collecting attendance slips is only one of the many duties of the student office and guidance workers. Each of them set aside an hour a day to help Mrs. Appuhn and Mrs. Sparks with the running of the two offices. The workers have many other duties that vary greatly; for example, they run errands, pass out announcements, call students as well as teachers to the office, and type numerous papers. They also answer the phone and take messages. The jobs are not always easy, and surely the office could not do without them. Congratulations to the workers for doing a great job!

Library Aide, Mrs. Kirk, is being rushed by a crowd of knowledge-seeking people.

Media

Camouflaged in a mess of construction debris lies the media center. This area was the first and hardest hit victim of the "merry band" of construction workers making a mad house of almost everything. Since construction began, things have never been the same. The fumes from the paint, the deafening noise, and the chaos almost drove the members mad. The annual book fair had to be cancelled, but library week went on as planned.

The club deserves a plaque for efforts above and beyond the call of duty, but where would they hang it?

Seniors

Camaraderie was evident among Seniors this year. Sticking close together proved helpful in winning. Seniors, with college on their minds, will soon say good-bye to this school. Few will remember the class of '82, but few could forget what they did. Seniors were competitive, caring, courteous, concerned, but most of all, they were always loyal to CCHS. Seniors were full of spirit. They proved it by winning in about everything they competed. As the class of '82 becomes history, they will expect that future Senior classes will take the challenge, and live up to the example set by the Super Seniors of the Class of '82!

Juniors

Catching the Lion Spirit is a part of Carterville High School and the Juniors did seem to have caught it. They started out the year normally enough but a new sense of togetherness bound them together as they went to classes and sports events. They had a reputation to uphold and they tried their best to do it.

Many Juniors held jobs for the first time. They learned how to divide their time wisely between work, school, and homework.

Students contended with such classes as Chemistry and Algebra II. They had a hard time but they knew some day soon they would be Seniors!

Sophomores

Cars driven by sophomores were a familiar sight again this year. The Sophomore year is "the year of driver's license!" With the thrill of driving also comes new challenges and responsibilities.

Again this year the Sophomore Class ran the concession stand during the football games. Incidentally, with the help of their sponsors, especially Dr. Johnson, they raised over twenty-two hundred dollars!

A new sponsor this year was Mrs. Appuhn. Although this year was her first year as a Class of '84 sponsor she was certainly not unfamiliar with the students. She has worked out extremely well and taken some of the pressures off the other sponsors.

With these achievements behind them, the Sophomore Class is looking forward to next year.

Freshmen

Coming into high school the biggest fears of any incoming freshmen range from Physical Science with "Dr. J." to being initiated by the fierce seniors.

Adding to the school spirit, the freshmen sold T-shirts before the Christopher football game. The shirts were marked with a LIONS #1 emblem.

The Freshmen appear to have met the challenge of high school and defeated it. Football, basketball, and academics seem to be no problem to most freshmen.

Although numerous things are expected of incoming freshmen, (the seniors of tomorrow) with luck and lots of help the class of '85 will prevail. They have a big challenge ahead. Will they surpass it? We have to wait and see!

Administration

Creating an atmosphere of cooperation and dependability, Mr. Leroy Newton and Mrs. Katharine Sparks form a winning combination. The generous and unselfish help and cooperation which they give have touched the lives of almost everyone. The seniors of 1982 will all have memories of office encounters — some good — some bad. Mostly they will recall the fun times shared with Mr. Newton and Mrs. Sparks.

Confidently assuming the position of Superintendent of Carterville Unit District #5, newcomer Dr. Robert Mees has proven to be most capable. Dr. Mees, together with the school board, continues to administer the school's business with competence and efficiency.

Faculty

Coincidentally, our faculty's names range from A to Z. It is, however, not coincidental that the Carterville High School Faculty co-ordinates the curriculum in as equally an encompassing manner — from "A to Z." This is accomplished only with dedication and hard work after school as well as during the regular day.

Whether it be in the class room, sponsoring extra-curricular activities, or coaching athletic events, the faculty of CCHS provides the challenges and imparts the spirit which enable students to become "The Lion Generation." (*Alumni of "the Lion Generation")

Boosters

Competition is the life blood of business. If a business can't compete it will fall out of the race. The method of competition is advertising. Ads are what keep business alive.

Ads are also what keep yearbooks alive. Without advertisers it would have been impossible to put out a yearbook. So we want to thank all of our advertisers, but not just our big ones. We also want to thank the people on this page who support us with a smaller ad, but not necessarily a lesser one.

Community

Community and school are closely related. What happens in school tends to affect what happens in our community and vice versa. This section is here to remind us of what was going on in the 81-82 school year. We saw our president trying to deal with a failing economy. We watched our secretary of state try to be everywhere an do everything at once. We grew nervous when hostilities broke out in Central America, and the Falkland Islands. We mourned when our heroes died. Students went out and sought jobs wherever they could be found. We endured when a tornado struck Southern Illinois.

We must also remember that above all, we had fun!

2. Fighting in El Salvador spells trouble when left wing and right wing leaders are unable to resolve conflicts.
3. Our gung-ho Secretary of State, Alexander Haig shows lots of ambition, and the desire to command.
4. In memory of the late John Belushi, the Saturday night samurai, who died this year, victim of a drug overdose.

5. Carterville Water Tower soon to be repainted?
6. Crab Orchard Lake attracts the school's sportsmen.
7. Enterprising Sophomores make a lot of money in the concession stand.
8. Area business attracts boaters and water-skiers in summer.

Tornado

Saturday, May 29th, 1982 is a day most people in Southern Illinois will never forget. A killer storm swept out of the west, damaging businesses and homes in Carterville, Crainville, and Marion. Damages were estimated in the millions. Ten people were killed and hundreds injured. Local homes were ripped apart including the home of Paula Emery, Billy Reynolds, and the former home of David Rongey. This page is dedicated to the storm's victims, and a special thanks given to Mr. Steve Smith for kindly donating his storm pictures to us.

Senior Trip

Cramming food, clothes, and 45 people on a chartered bus and 10 on a van, the Carterville Seniors took their trip to the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tennessee.

The trip started as 12 o'clock Thursday night, arriving at Knoxville at 10:00 a.m., leaving at 12:00 p.m., and arriving back again safe and sound at 6:00 a.m. Saturday morning. Exhausted but pleased by what they saw, the Seniors commented that it was well worth it.

The strange and unusual gifts that they came home with accented the trip wonderfully. Gatorade alligators, Chinese brass, kimonos, and assorted World's Fair paraphernalia helped bring a minute part of the World's Fair back to Carterville.

Some Seniors were asked if they would recommend it to their friends. "Heck," one said, "I'm going back next week."

Graduation

Closing this chapter in their lives and this book, the Carterville High School Seniors graduated with pride and honor. Valedictorian Mari Lyn Jones and Salutatorian Cindy Schlesinger made their graduation speeches in front of an overflowing gymnasium and 84 nervous, apprehensive Seniors.

The Seniors accomplished a great deal during their four years at CCHS — in football from winning zero games as a freshman to going 10-1 as Seniors! In academics, the main reason one comes to high school, the seniors were not lacking. Having a Scholar Bowl Team, Jets Team, and Student Olympiad, the Seniors, with the help of a few Juniors, put Carterville ahead of other local schools in the academic department.

From Clamp-Man to herds of alligators, with help and guidance from Mom, Elwood, and Nancy, the Seniors made known the wonderful, AWESOME Class of 82.

Closing

Certainly 1982 was the year of the "C." On the national level "C" was for conservatism, an economic crunch and the crisis of the Falkland Islands. On the local level "C" was for change — a new park and a new face on the water tower. On the campus the letter "C" took on special significance. It stood for championships in athletics, construction on the school facility, "cubism" and cold weather. On the LIONITE the "C" stood for confusion, copy, candids and finally, completion.
